Prospects for Immigrant Children During Times Of Covid-19 and Policies - March 5, 2021

This 19th webinar of the Refugee Mental Health Resource Network (RMHRN) will address the intersecting risks and challenges that immigrant children have faced in the past four years of discriminatory and detrimental governmental policies, the planned changes that the new administration is undertaking, and its impact on the immigrant's children situation. Additionally, the Covid-19 pandemic differentially impacted ethnic minority and immigrant families and children. The discussion will be framed within a working model that takes into consideration how the cultural, individual, familial, community and societal factors interact in a reciprocal manner to shape the risks and protective factors that affect immigrant children. Dr. Hass has conducted two RMHRN webinars in previous years on asylum evaluations and will also discuss how current changes may impact the
